Overview of Conservatorships

What is a conservatorship?

A conservatorship is a court case where a judge appoints a responsible person or organization (called the "conservator") to care for another adult (called the "conservatee") who cannot care for himself or herself or manage his or her own finances.

What are alternatives to a conservatorship?

How does California law establish a conservatorship?

- Probate Code (Sections 1801 et seq) governs Probate Conservatorships
- Welfare and Institutions Code (Sections 5000-5550) governs
 LPS Conservatorships (Lanterman-Petris-Short Act Conservatorships)

Probate vs. LPS

Probate Conservatorship

 Purpose: To protect and care for the person and to administer the estate of those who, without assistance, cannot provide for their basic needs such as food, shelter, or clothing, or are unable to resist fraud or undue influence.

(Protects those with intellectual disabilities, autism, dementia, cerebral palsy, epilepsy, brain damage or dysfunction)

LPS Conservatorship

Purpose: To provide for mental health care (may include involuntary detention in mental health treatment facilities) for those adjudicated as gravely disabled by reason of a mental disorder, and to protect and administer the estate. (Protects those with DSM V diagnosis such as schizophrenia, OCD, Bi-polar disorder, clinical depression)

Probate vs. LPS

Probate Conservatorship

- Who is appointed?
 May be private individuals, an agency, or the Public Guardian
- Duration?
 Indefinite, but either the conservator or conservatee may petition the court for termination

LPS Conservatorship

- Who is appointed?
 The Public Guardian, a relative or interested party, but the Public Guardian investigates all referrals and makes a recommendation to the court
- Duration?
 Automatically terminates after one year but may be renewed

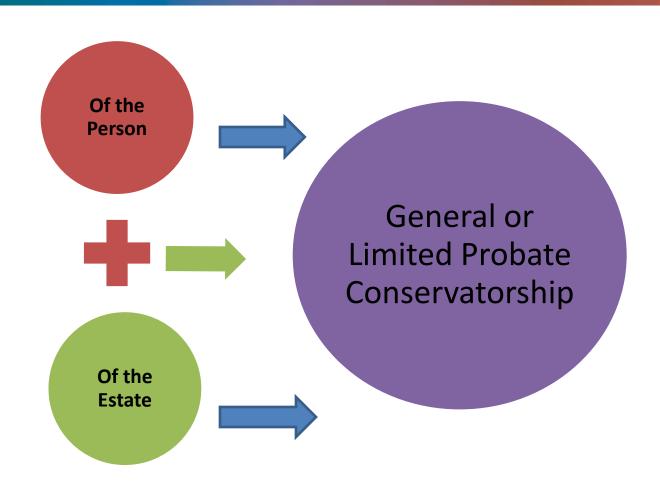

Probate Conservatorships

General Conservatorships

- For adults who cannot take care of themselves and/or their finances
- Often elderly people, but can also be younger people who have been seriously impaired (Example: injury from car accident)
- Need higher level of care

Limited Conservatorships

- For adults with developmental disabilities, i.e. those who have a severe or chronic disability due to a mental or physical impairment that started before the age of 18 and could last indefinitely
- Focus of the conservator is to help the limited conservatee develop maximum selfreliance and independence

Duties of Conservator of the Person

- Arrange for care and protection
- Decide where conservatee will live
- •Make arrangements for meals, healthcare, clothing, personal care, housekeeping, transportation, shelter, well-being
- •Get approval from the court for certain decisions about healthcare or living arrangements
- •Report to the court on conservatee's current status

Duties of Conservator of the Estate

- Manage the conservatee's finances
- •Locate and take control of all assets and prepare a budget
- Collect the conservatee's income
- •Pay the conservatee's bills
- •Responsibly invest the conservatee's money
- Protect the conservatee's assets
- Account to the court and conservatee for the management of the assets

Conservator of the Estate: Filing a Bond

The court will often require a conservator of the estate to post a bond. A bond is an insurance policy which assures that, if the conservator steals from the conservatee, there is a source from which the money can be obtained to return it to the conservatee. The bond company then institutes legal action against the conservator to recover the money paid out. No bond is required of the conservator of the person although the court in its discretion may require one.

Conservator of the Estate: When a bond is not necessary

Probate Code Section 2628(a): The court will not require a bond if it appears likely that the estate will meet the requirements of a small estate:

- •Assets (items of ownership convertible into cash), not including the home, are valued at less than $15,000
- •Monthly income, not including any public benefit payments, does not exceed $2000 per month
- •All income of the estate, if not retained, will be used for the benefit of the conservatee

- Settlement Funds
- Death Benefits
- Gifts, Inheritance of Property or Cash
- Interest, Dividends, Stocks, Bonds
- Pensions, Annuities, Railroad Retirement
